

Wayne Community College Forest Management Technology Graduates

Wayne Community College Forestry graduates have continued to succeed after graduation. In the past four academic years (2014-2017), forty-three students have graduated since 2014, averaging 11 graduates per year. Seventy-nine percent of graduates have found employment in the forestry field or continued education in forestry related fields while others have elected to pursue other avenues. Data for this summary was based off of student follow-ups.

This graph illustrates where forestry graduates are working.

Industry- forestry consultants, procurement, wood use facilities, site prep, mitigation, etc.

Government- Federal, State and local agencies

Right of Way- utility companies, contractors, etc.

Continue Education- seeking additional education in forestry related fields